Interprofessional Faculty Development Institute
January 12-15, 2014
Dulles Hyatt - Herndon, Virginia

IPEC is committed to accelerating the national movement toward interprofessional education and practice by providing state-of-the-art faculty development institutes focused on advancing high quality, team-based healthcare delivery. In January 2014, faculty from across the health professions will come together in teams to learn how to enhance interprofessional curricula and student learning experiences, with a focus on quality improvement and patient safety.

Featuring noted experts on quality and safety content, curriculum development, and interprofessional engagement, keynote addresses include:

Finding Energy and Joy in Sustainably Improving Health and Health Care
Janis M. Orlowski, MD, Senior Director, Clinical Transformation, Association of American Medical Colleges
Explore the intrinsic benefits of advancing sound healthcare policy from the first responding physician to the Washington Navy Yard shootings in September 2013.

Success Stories for Teaching Quality Improvement and Patient Safety
Esther Emard, MSN,RN, MSLIR, Former Chief Operating Officer, National Committee for Quality Assurance, Faculty, The George Washington University, School of Nursing
Hear an expert’s perspective on effective teaching strategies related to quality and safety from a nationally recognized leader in the field.

Creating High Reliability to Reduce Patient Harm
William Riley, PhD, Professor and Director, School for the Science of Health Care Delivery, Arizona State University
Discover the latest evidence emerging from the study of patient safety and quality improvement from an experienced healthcare executive, professor, and researcher.

Other presentations include:

- Success Stories of Interprofessional Education in Quality and Safety at Point of Care
- Quality Improvement and Patient Safety Resources Virtual Tour
- Project Acceleration through Peer Consultation, Virtual Group Sharing, or Extended Team Time
- Enlisting Support with Powerful Messaging

The institute will also feature “Theory Bursts” on essential topics including Interprofessional Teaching/Learning Strategies in Quality and Safety, Learner Assessment, Connecting Quality Improvement and the Community, and Program Evaluation.

Faculty interested in attending must register in teams, which should include a quality improvement or patient safety specialist, at least one representative from an IPEC profession (dentistry, medicine, nursing, pharmacy, public health), and a member able to affect curricular change at their home institution.
The conference fee is $1,095 per person, which includes 3 nights lodging at the Dulles Hyatt, registration and materials, and breakfasts and lunches.

For more details on assembling teams and registration details, see https://ipecollaborative.org/2014_IPEC_Institute.html

Registration is limited, so early registration is strongly encouraged.

About IPEC
The Interprofessional Education Collaborative (IPEC) is a national organization that focuses on better integrating and coordinating the education of nurses, physicians, dentists, pharmacists, public health professionals, and other members of the patient health care team to provide more collaborative and patient-centered care. The founding members include the American Association of Colleges of Nursing, the American Association of Colleges of Osteopathic Medicine, the American Association of Colleges of Pharmacy, the American Dental Education Association, the Association of American Medical Colleges, and the Association of Schools of Public Health.
